

UniCredit and Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (ICBC) announce business cooperation agreement

Agreement to promote business development and enhance cooperation across UniCredit's home markets

UniCredit and the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China (ICBC) have today announced the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to mutually enhance business cooperation and client solutions in the areas of Global Transaction Banking (GTB), Debt Capital Markets, Financing, Global Markets, M&A and Financial Advisory.

The purpose of this MoU is to assist in establishing and developing long-term friendly non-exclusive cooperation relationship between the two banks in order to promote the business opportunities among China, Italy, Germany, Austria and CEE regions as well as to intensify cooperation among the enterprises of these countries in trade, investment, oversea project contracting, cross-border merger and acquisition financing, financing services, debit capital markets as well as other fields.

The agreement seeks to establish effective cooperation regarding trade investment and overseas project contracting, as well as support for respective corporate clients in their international business activities and in exploring new business and investment opportunities in their respective markets and in Europe, particularly Central and Eastern Europe, Italy, Germany and Austria.

Gianfranco Bisagni, Co-CEO, Central and Eastern Europe UniCredit said: “UniCredit is proud to be a key partner of the real economy, supporting our clients in their international expansion with a full range of products and services. China is the second largest trade partner for the eurozone and a market we have been present in since 1982. Today's announcement will further enrich our client solutions and promote mutual business development through international growth.”
